Commentaire : No. II. in the Navy in the Civil War series. Along with J. Russell Soley's The Blockade and the Cruisers and Mahan's The Gulf and Inland Waters, this volume completes Scribners' history of the Union Navy in the U.S. Civil War. It is concerned primarily with the actions of the South Atlantic Blockading Squadron, which operated between Cape Hatteras and Cape Florida; the author, a U.S.N. Rear Admiral, was present for many of the events described and spoke to the principals of many of the others.
