

D'AULNOY, Marie Catherine

La chatte blanche, conte tiré des fées.

Référence : 16236

Paris, Chez les marchands de nouveautés, 1821.

Commentaire : "La chatte blanche" est suivi de deux autres petits contes: "Les Fées" et de "Le Chasseur et la Fermière". Exemplaire court de la marge supérieure. Bel exemplaire.. /// In-16 de 71 pp. Broché, couverture bleue de l'époque. //// A rare chapbook edition of this fairy tale. Madame d'Aulnoy (1650-1705) most popular works were her fairy tales and adventure stories. Unlike the folk tales of the Grimm Brothers, who were born some 135 years later than d'Aulnoy, she told her stories in a more conversational style, as they might be told in salons. Much of her writing created a world of animal brides and grooms, where love and happiness came to heroines after surmounting great obstacles. These stories were far from suitable for children and many English adaptations are very dissimilar to the original.
